Mobile Site for College Coaches

College showcases have always been an important opportunity for college coaches and potential college bound athletes to connect. For more than 10 years, SportsInCollege.com has been working with college showcases, teams, and athletes to produce college coach guidebooks to help with recruiting efforts.

In early 2013, we released our mobile site for college coaches which takes all of the information from the college coach guide books and transforms it into a tool where coaches can easily find schedules, search for players, tag their favorites, add comments and so much more. Gone are the days of printing 100+ pages of information and flipping through them to find the team and game you're currently watching. We proudly introduce SportsInCollege.com recruiting 2.0.

The mobile site has been designed for use on a tablet or a smart phone so the incredible features can be used no matter what tools you have available.
